Work Better. Live Better.

Peterborough Regional Health Centre (PRHC) serves a population of over 300,000, including the First Nations communities of Curve Lake, Alderville, and Hiawatha. The city is located 90 minutes north-east of Toronto, making it a convenient yet peaceful alternative to city living.

For those who love the outdoors, the area offers easy access to cottage country, just 20 minutes away. With Trent University and Fleming College in the area, along with a growing business sector, the opportunities here are abundant. While most of our physicians choose to live in Peterborough or nearby towns, some work remotely from other parts of Ontario, including Markham, Richmond Hill, Etobicoke, and Ottawa.
